

Knorr Associates Teams with SiteHawk for MSDS Management Services

Nashville, TN and Butler, NJ (April 29, 2010) – SiteHawk, the leading MSDS solution provider, and Knorr Associates, a pioneer in environmental, health, and safety (EH&S) information management, announced today a partnership whereby Knorr Associates will augment their current MSDS module within its DataPipe EH&S solution with material safety data sheet management services from SiteHawk.

DataPipe is a smart and simple, modular software solution for collecting and managing environment, occupational health, safety and industrial hygiene data. Now, in partnership with SiteHawk, DataPipe clients can access a complete MSDS management solution that eliminates the chore of acquiring, updating, and maintaining material safety data sheets. Organizations will be able to have SiteHawk seamlessly populate their DataPipe solution by acquiring new or updated MSDSs for them. Furthermore, clients may choose the level of chemical data indexing, update frequency, and reporting that suits their needs, with SiteHawk providing the data indexing services to allow them to take full advantage of their EH&S platform.

“Chemical regulatory compliance can be a challenging and time-consuming endeavor for companies,” commented Mark Odian, Director of Marketing and Sales. “We believe that the joint DataPipe and SiteHawk solution will eliminate that burden and create added peace of mind for our clients.”

“We are excited about working with the team at Knorr Associates and serving DataPipe clients,” stated Scott Williams, Director of Sales for SiteHawk. “Considering the renewed interest in an active regulatory climate today, it’s important for organizations to maintain a proactive approach to chemical data management and that’s exactly what this partnership offers.”

The DataPipe MSDS module with SiteHawk MSDS management services is available today. For more information, please go to <http://www.knorrassociates.com/sitehawk>.

About Knorr Associates, Inc.

Knorr Associates, Inc. is an experienced software development firm with specific expertise in the areas of Environment, Health and Safety (EH&S). The company has over 30 years of history developing and re-inventing advanced EH&S Data Management Systems and related instrument interfaces to businesses and organizations worldwide. Unlike other companies that claim longevity, Knorr Associates began in 1979 actually interfacing EH&S instruments and sharing data. The company pioneered EH&S software and was the first firm to release a windows operating system based EH&S software solution - DataPipe. No one in the industry has the experience or the track record of innovation that Knorr Associates has with EH&S software. This is clearly seen in the quality and effectiveness of the DataPipe application.
